QUESTIONNAIRE HEARING BEGUN BY CURATORS

Appearance of Court Trial Taken at Meeting -

Continued Until Late Today

Behind closed doors the nine members of the Board of Curators of the University were still ternoon, considering the cases of Prof. Max Meyer, Prof. Harmon O. DeGraif and O. H. Mowrer, dismissed from the University recently by the Executive Board for their connection with the sex questionnaire. When the board reconvened at 1:40 o'clock, following a noon recess, Leland Hazard, Kansas City attorney, Prof. Meyer and Prof. DeGraff were recalled for the third time today. Because of the large number of faculty men and students summoned by Hazard to appear before the board in an appeal to obtain the re-instate-ment of the professors, it is likely that the hearing will contime until late tonight. Five students were waiting at 3 o'clock to be called before the Board of Curators. They are: Jack Turner, Lela Gibbins, Lu-cile Dorff, Glen. Degner, and John Marion Dry.

The sex questionnaire hearing before the Board of Curators of the University today took on the appearance of a court trial with attorneys for both the University and the sus-pended members of the faculty, as

Court Action May Follow

A possibility that the case may be carried into the courts was seen today, in the event that the board makes the suspension final. Hazard said that he would not comment on this possibility until the board had made known its decision.

A number of letters and telegrams, supporting the professors and urging their reinstatement, were sent to the board by Representative Carl P. Werner of Kansas City. Werner last week sent a letter to the board, criticizing the action of the Executive This letter created a furore when a number of members of the Legislature, whose signatures appeared on the letter, repudiated it.
